On, October 15th 2016, Dear Uncle Sammy would have been 77. Sadly, Uncle Sammy is now perpetually asleep. Celebrate his day, we still must. He was, and will remain a celebration man. Even in eternity. Fine in all his ways. Certainly, so, and even now too, in his eternal sleep.

Today, I am sure, there is some bigger celebration somewhere. This time, with God, on his throne. And this I can imagine, it will be for that new arrival, of a certain and gifted 'Earthly Art Collector'. Sleep well, and Sleep on.... Uncle Sammy! Reunion day, certainly will be at the much promised Resurrection Day.

P/S.....In case your ears are tuned for news from earth - Be happy, as we give you a special earthly gift for your 77th Birthday today. NDEP delivered this morning, gas from Ogebe, to its 1st Nigerian Domestic Gas customer- PGINL. Happy 😊, I know you are. Where ever, with God, his many angels and you, with this small early morning earthling news.
